City fathers cheer at 4.66% street bond bid

First National Bank of Memphis bid a dandy 4.66% for the city's $750,000 street bond issue Monday, the lowest rate the city ever got, Mayor John A. Scarfone said he was tickled pink with the price, particularly in view of the current bond market. First National bought the Bay's $50,000 for emergency street repairs in April, 1966, at 4.1808 per cent. Others bidding Monday on the 10-year issue were Speed-Ferguson, Inc., of Jackson at 4.9772 per cent, and Howard, Wolf, Labouisse and Friedrichs & Co. of New Orleans at 5.76818.

Commission Council met Tuesday with J.G. Richard, Baton Rouge consulting engineer, who is preparing specifications for the street program while J. Ruble Griffin, city attorney, started preparing the legal papers for validation of the issue.

Meanwhile, council got an unsigned letter Monday morning purportedly from a committee for "another city government," notifying it that the sale will be protested at the bond validation hearing. Just last Wednesday another group of opponents sought to beat the paving program by filing what their attorneys called a "bill of exceptions" from the city's resolutions setting up the front foot assessment-special assessment general obligation bond.

Mayor Scarfone had feared the latter action might contribute to a high interest rate bids on the $780,000 issue.

The bonds will be amortized over a 10-year period through a maximum $2 per front foot levy increase not to exceed 4.5 mills. Scarfone said the ad valorem levy probably will be less.

Sixty-one strips of streets are slated for paving under the program which was developed after the city voters twice rejected a $975,000 general obligation bond issue designed to finance it. The city had proposed 85 streets for improvements but protests from abutting property owners eliminated 20 and council removed the balance.

The town of Waveland bonds last week went at 5.75 per cent. First National paid 4.2578 per cent for the last county issue—$1,750,000 for the port and harbor commission—in March, 1966.

Council met again Wednesday and authorized its commission-in-lieu of March, 1966.

Bay school district to get name change

The already heavily named Bay St. Louis school system is to become the Bay St. Louis-Waveland Municipal Separate School District, if the change can legally be made.

The switch was authorized Monday after board president Robert Hamilton said it was time the district's name included the two incorporated municipalities within its boundary.

Hamilton said that when he referred to the system he wanted it to mean "us," Bay St. Louis and Waveland and outside areas, not just Bay St. Louis.

He said he had discussed the matter with the mayors of both municipalities and they had agreed that it was a sound idea. Attorney Sam Faye was not at the session to provide legal counsel.

Hamilton said his principal purpose in talking to the two mayors earlier that day was to discover whether or not they agreed to the possibility of launching a construction bond issue for the system.

"Each of them assured me they would be behind any bond issue we ask of the voters," Hamilton said.

The president then called upon trustees to establish an order of building priorities to assist in determining the amount that will be required.

Included in deliberations were a new elementary school at Waveland, renovations at the junior high school, a new vocational arts shop at the senior high, dressing rooms at Tiger Stadium and completion of the high school building by addition of the proposed auditorium.

Trustees estimated the elementary school, scheduled to be built on land they own on St. Joseph Street, would cost $300,000. Junior high renovations were cited by J.D. McCullough, superintendent, as probably amounting to a further $75,000, providing school personnel and the summer work force did part of the work involved.

Waveland clean-up gathers momentum

Waveland town council Monday night heard C.O. Dufour, town clerk, read replies to legal notices advising residents to either clean up lots, or allow work to be done by town crews and added to taxes of property owners.

Of the first 14 studied, most had written that the work had begun or would be done by June 18. One New Orleans resident requested that the town workers do the job and bill her direct. Mayor Garfield Laderne suggested that he and Dufour check each property Tuesday before examining the remainder, adding that other complaints had been received. This would involve new legal publications which should be delayed as Lucien Cox, Jr., attorney, was out of town at the time of the meeting.

Dufour reported that the school tax was down by almost $300 as the May total amounted to only $1,500.

After Dufour read a letter from the state board of health commending the town for preliminary steps toward eradication of water, Alderman Dominick Senior asked if the water were in any way lacking in purity. Alderman John Longo explained there was no question as to purity, but that fluoridation would lessen both problems of children in the community. The matter was then tabled.

Harry Martin of Pass Christian, representing Certified Laboratories, quoted prices on two products, a non-toxic weed killer and a deodorant for use in water filled ditches, garbage trucks, etc. Longo commented that anything that would make some of the town's ditches smell sweet would be a good investment.

Seek computer

How to calculate the best bid on computerized sale of auto license tags stumped the board of supervisors again Monday and it postponed until June 24 a decision on the matter.

Representatives of Hancock Bank and Computer Services, Inc., were on hand to explain their bid. Hancock offered to handle 6,000 tags at $9,000 the first year and $1,900 the second. CSI bid $8,800 on the basis of 9,000 and argued Monday that 80 per cent of the charge would be incurred in the first year.

Supervisor Russell J. Elliott and C.A. Reno, III, sought to get a recommendation from Sheriff-Tax Collector Fred Curran on which bid he would recommend. But the sheriff indicated he hadn't analyzed the prices and was more or less bound to provide computerized tag prices because of a campaign tag policy last year. He noted he'd had lots of advice against it.

Supervisor Ralph Keller inquired why the sheriff couldn't finance the project himself, stating that method of tag and/or tax collection is up to him. Reno said if Curran would recommend the second bid, he'd move the computerized tag price.

The Computer Services man suggested the supervisors cook a new set of bids and include financing methods to specifications when it developed the tax

Bayou LaCrosse water skiing is under fire

Water skiing in Bayou LaCrosse west of the bridge brought two delegations before the board of supervisors Tuesday. Joseph Bonvanti, board attorney, finally was asked to confer with them and advise the supervisors on what steps to take to secure speed limits and any restrictions necessary on waterways. Objection appeared to be more to the water than to skiing.

Hancock County's business for the last two years, said it was bidding a unit price of 18 cents per tag plus $60 per 1,000 extra for punch holes. CSI argued it was now business in the county, was negotiating for purchase of $100,000 worth of property here, the unit price

Helicopter crashes

Three men, a pilot and two members of the Gulf Coast Mosquito Control Commission, made their way to safety Tuesday after their helicopter, being used to carry out mosquito investigations, crashed in a marshy area near Bayou LaCrosse.

Involved were W.C. Hooch, 45, of Gulfport, the pilot; and Milton Sims and Ed Shaw of the commission.

Commission Director Chris Hooch, Jr., said the three sustained minor cuts and bruises.

The helicopter fell in open water off the marshy area but the three men were able to make their way to a nearby beach from where they were taken to a fishing camp on Bayou LaCrosse.

Hooch is employed by Robert Albrecht as the pilot of the three-engine helicopter now being used by the commission. During the last year or so the commission has used a helicopter for rapid, efficient mosquito spraying coverage of large marsh and fresh water tracts in the marshy area, especially on the coastal lands. The effective use of the inspection was deemed an important factor in the

Pogey boats, highways are legislator's topics

The status of pogey boats and highway legislation was related to the board of supervisors Monday by Rep. Walter J. Phillips.

Rather than giving the board of supervisors of the three counties unlimited jurisdiction of pogey boats, as can measure proposed, Phillips said he is working on legislation to bar them from operating within two miles of the coast line. This limit, he said, would protect the sports fisherman as well as the economy of the state.

The state legislator noted that the pogey boat business buys $1 million worth of engine parts in Mississippi annually and has a $5 million payroll. If the two-mile limit doesn't work, the next session of the legislature could extend it to the intercoastal waterway or Channel Islands, he observed. Supervisors indicated they concurred with two miles for now.

Phillips said he proposed a joint House-Senate conference committee on the highway bill will begin work on the package which has been amended to include four-laning of U.S. 90 from R. 607 to the Louisiana line.

Phillips had sought unsuccessfully to get this amendment in the House version. State Sen. Martin Smith took up the fight when the measure got to the Senate and at one stage managed to put R. 600—No-also to Oscar Road—in the highway improvement program. The Senate committee circled both but Smith succeeded in getting a floor amendment through last week including U.S. 90. He argued this was the last link to be four-laned to the Louisiana line.

"The traffic count is 6,000 cars a day on the highway compared with a count of 2,500 cars a day in many segments that are scheduled for four-laning," Smith said.

Reeves contended that the coastal highway would be paralleled by Interstate 10, but Smith said the I-10 would not be completed until 1975. "We deserve a four-lane highway in this district of the state," said Strider in urging approval of his U.S. 90 section from U.S. 83 near Greenwood to Tutwiler.

In the last moments before the final passage of the bill, Sens. Nap Casabary and Ben Stone of Gulfport, and Sen. Tommy Munro, Biloxi, won overwhelming adoption of their amendment to put U.S. 90 from the Biloxi Bay bridge to the Bay St. Louis bridge into the program for an asphalt overlay.

"If we don't do this," said Casabary, "we are going to lose a highway worth $25 million."

Stone said that the south lane of the present U.S. 90 along the coast is badly deteriorating, and if we may also lose the north lane."

The supervisors adopted a resolution calling on Phillips, Rep. Lonnie Smith and Senator Smith to get a local and private bill through granting $75 additional travel money to the county tax assessor, George Heitzmann, the assessor, is president of the state assessors this year and has made several trips to Jackson to testify before the legislature on fiscal matters.

Illness strikes Lagarde family

Mary Lagarde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lagarde, home on holidays from Loyola University, underwent emergency surgery for a ruptured appendix June 7 at Gulfport Memorial Hospital. She is reported recuperating well but will be detained for several more days.

Her brother, Jules, underwent hip surgery Wednesday of the same hospital. He is expected to be hospitalized for about two weeks.

CD shelter team surveys county

A three man team of engineers from Mississippi State University last week conducted a survey to determine the fall-out protection factor of Civil Defense shelters and the extent of county needs.

Hancock County CD chief Lucien Kidd announced on his return from Starkville, after a week long course of study, that the survey is part of a nation wide program. Missions have been selected on the basis of the project and when the reports are complete from all 70 counties participating, each citizen will receive a brochure instructing them where to go in case of emergency, and explain warning systems and traffic routes.

'Hot load' cooled in waters of Bay

Explosive to 'down the Bay auto bridge' was how the driver of an automobile reportedly transporting a vital of nitroglycerin, described partial of the lethal load. Officers of the highway patrol were alerted after the man, identifying himself as John W. Landgill, stopped at the toll station and asked for a police escort and ice for the nitroglycerin packet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Patrolmen arriving at the gate summoned aid from a Seabee unit, personnel from Koorlor Field and Harrison County Sheriff Luther Patton.

Patrolman called Fred Curet, Hancock County sheriff, giving him full authority in the case. Patrol leader Leon Burton utilized all units in the area to block traffic from the bridge to the outskirts of Pass Christian. Curet then escorted Landgill, driving a 1954 Chevrolet, carefully across the overpass at Henderson Point, with Deputy George Rayburn following immediately behind. The procession halted for Curet and Rayburn to clear the beach on the point for several hundred yards in each direction, then drove slowly to the water's edge.

Landgill then stripped off all of his clothing, donned an old pair of pants, gingerly lifted the container, a plastic wrapped box holding the vital, and waded slowly into the water. As darkness fell Curet and Rayburn shone lights as he walked as far out as the channel before uncapping the bottle and allowed its contents to flow into the tide stream. At one point, just before losing his balance, he stepped into a hole in the sand, almost losing his balance. Upon returning to land, he shed tears of relief as he fell against his automobile.

Landgill was taken to Hancock County Jail and charged with driving while intoxicated, transporting explosive illegally and for improper warnings on his vehicle. After intensive interrogation by Curet, Rayburn, Buttons and Inspector Robert Winstead, he apparently said he was to have received $500 for driving the nitro from New Orleans to Mobile.

He stated that he is a construction laborer and crane operator and had from time to time been employed by Perry Equipment Company of New Orleans, although he had been recently working for a firm in Houston, Tex. He said a man he named as Bob Betz had given him the package around 4 p.m. Tuesday outside of the Perry Equipment building. He said he was told to drive to the gate of Avondale Shipyards in Mobile, Ala., where he would be met and paid upon delivery.

As he approached Bay St. Louis, he noted that ice packed around the nitro had almost melted. Knowing the chemicals become active upon reaching a certain temperature, he decided to request assistance at the bridge.

A full investigation into all angles of the case will be made by Curet's office and the patrol before further formal charges are filed.

most. On motion from Senator, seconded by Herman Yarborough, council voted to purchase 20 gallon lots each, for test purposes; specifying that the used killer be used to determine if it would improve the appearance of the beach.

Senator stated that the board of supervisors is responsible for this maintenance, but agreed it did not have the money, it was up to the council to assist.

On Councilman Mayor Leland was authorized to offer $1000 for purchase of a lot in Waveland for maintenance of the beach as a maintenance area.

Crutchfield

Harry Crutchfield, 73, former Nova Pittman, who died in Bay St. Louis for approximately 40 years, died at Hancock County Hospital, Bay St. Louis, last Friday, June 7, at the time of her death. Funeral services were Sunday at the Range Free Will Church with Rev. Jim McCall officiating. Interment was in Range Cemetery.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E.J. Thornton of Bay St. Louis, Mrs. O.D. Brunson of Mobile, and Mrs. John H. McCall of Metairie; four sons, John T. Crutchfield of Baltimore, Md., Bruce S. Crutchfield of Mobile, Alvin M. Crutchfield, USMC, Laurel Bay, La., and Carol Ann Crutchfield of Range, Ala.; one daughter, Mrs. Mattie Mae Holman of Pensacola, Fla.; two sons, John H. Pittman and William A. Pittman, both of Pensacola, Fla.; and 16 great-grandchildren.

County rifle

Range opens for business

Came Warden Pat Toomay shot the ribbon to begin formal dedication ceremonies on Sunday at the new Hancock County Rifle Range on Bayou LaCrosse road.

Russell Elliott, president, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, was principal speaker and Rev. William Kelly gave the dedication prayer and read the benediction.

Pistol experts George Handricks and Paul Wells of the Mississippi Highway Patrol target range in Jackson demonstrated their skill and instructed guests in use of firearms. Norvin Penrose of Waveland gave a trick shooting exhibition and F. & B. Supply Company of New Orleans displayed the latest in police weapons, automatic rifles and equipment. Sheriff Fred Curet furnished supplies for an opening fish fry.

Response to the new facility was so great that H. Bully Zengarlung, original donor of the ground to the county, made more land available for use as a general picnic and recreation area.

The range is now open daily under supervision of range officer W.T. "Willie" Blanton, and any women wishing instruction in proper use of firearms may call the Hancock County Sheriff's office, 467-5101, and register for classes to be scheduled within the next few weeks.

Equipment for clearing and leveling the range was furnished by the board of supervisors and labor by county prisoners.

was broached but trustees felt it best to utilize present accommodations at this time.

McCulloch asked trustees to take total future needs into consideration before fixing the amount of any bond issue. By this he apparently meant that all aspects of future requirements should be assessed at one time rather than returning to the voters within the next couple of years for an additional bond issue.

In connection with any proposed improvements at Waveland a letter presented trustees by David Johnson, chairman, Waveland Education Advisory Committee, requested nine items be given attention.

The letter asked that part time help be provided for secretarial librarian and disciplinary activities, classification of and inclusion of pocket cards in library books be completed, the main office and teachers' lounge be remodeled, lunch room equipment be added to electrical outlets be added in each room to enable utilization of visual aid materials, teaching aids such as maps and the like be provided for each classroom, playground equipment be relocated and grass cut and consideration be given to establishment of a music room.

McCulloch said the library aspect was being looked after and all other items have been taken under advisement.

Johnson's letter stressed that although his committee was calling for renovations it should not be thought the requests in any way lessened the need for a new school.

High school to offer 26 courses

Twenty-six courses are being offered to 12th grade students at Bay Senior High School in the 1968-'69 school year, Superintendent J.D. McCulloch told school trustees Monday.

The tenth and eleventh grades are both offering 21 courses.

Tenth grade subjects are English II, Spanish I, French I, fundamental mathematics, algebra I, unified geometry, civics, Mississippi history, world history, general science, biology, home economics II, typing, physical education, chorus, and band as credit subjects, with football, basketball, baseball, track and driver education being offered as non-credit subjects.

The eleventh grade is offering English III, Spanish II, French II, algebra II, fundamental mathematics, II, physics, advanced general science, U.S. history, shorthand, book-keeping, occupational training, distributive education, trade and industrial arts, physical education, chorus and band as credit subjects with the same non credit courses as 10th grade.

In the twelfth grade subjects offered are English IV, business English, advanced senior English, journalism, Spanish III, French III, senior mathematics, chemistry, American government, economics, secretarial office procedure, mechanical drawing, home economics III, family living, foods, clothing, speech, physical education, chorus and band as credit subjects with same list of non-credit courses with addition of yearbook staff.

Sixteen units are required for graduation from the school and must include four units in English, two in mathematics, one in science, one in U.S. History, one half in civics, one half in Mississippi history, and one half in American government, McCulloch said.

In the Junior High School 12 and 13 courses are being offered in the seventh and eighth grades respectively and 20 in the ninth grade. English, reading and spelling, mathematics, social studies and science are required courses in the seventh grade, with general music, band, chorus, football, basketball, baseball and track being offered as alternates. The eighth grade lists the same required courses with the exception of industrial arts or home-making substituting for the reading and spelling. Alternate course remain unchanged in the ninth grade basics are English, civics and Mississippi history. Alternates are fundamental mathematics, algebra I, general science, biology, industrial arts I and II, homemaking I and II, typing I, music, band, chorus, physical education, football, basketball, baseball and track.

In other board business trustees approved transportation dockets number 97 to 107 and district fund docks 709 to 778, approved payment of Title 2 fund docket and heard Mrs. Howard Rapp outline some grievances against the system.

Mary Ann Carlisle was hired as a second grade teacher and Bernice Bradley as a junior high reading teacher.

Miss Carlisle is from Heidelberg and is now teaching at Indian Harbor Beach, Fla. A graduate of Mississippi State College for Women she has had one year teaching experience.

Miss Bradley from West Point, is a graduate of West Point High School and University of Southern Mississippi and is presently teaching at Meridian.

Salute to vets of World War I

We are not a veteran of World War I. In fact we were only in swaddling clothes at that period of history.

Perhaps this makes it even more fitting that we compliment Waveland and its Veterans of World War I post on Nicholson Avenue, for getting this year's state convention of the V.V.I. vets.

It was 50 years ago in November that the armistice that ended hostilities was signed in France, Nov. 11, 1918.

We strongly suggest that Hancock Countyans not necessarily Waveland folks, turn out on June 20 to show their pride in Waveland's honor.

Thumbs down on lady jurors

It looks like women will soon be eligible to serve on Mississippi juries. The Mississippi House of Representatives has already so voted, and pressure from liberal sources indicates that the Senate will follow suit.

We think it is poor legislation. There is no logical reason for subjecting our ladies to this sometimes sordid duty. The reasoning back of this idea is purely emotional, and our legislators are unwilling to buck this non-sensible legislation.

This is one time where Mississippi's 50th rank among the states is a compliment—a compliment to our lady folks.

Haases reply, etc.

Our readers write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

Mr. J. Norton Haas, Jr., Michael D. Haas, and Nicholas M. Haas, wish to reply to the editorial made by Mayor John A. Scalf in the Sea Coast Echo of June 6, 1968, concerning the recent election of Mayor Scalf to the office of Mayor of the City of Jackson.

We appreciate the editor of the Sea Coast Echo for his editorial on Mayor Scalf's victory as a candidate and support for Mayor Scalf, Jr., however, please Mr. Scalf, Jr. to not be so quick to jump on the Mayor of the City of Jackson.

The Mayor has had our support in the past; in fact, we supported the Mayor to secure the job done in the City of Jackson. We, along with many, were most sympathetic and understanding during the Mayor's illness. We are still willing to cooperate with the Mayor and his administration in any way we can to help the City of Jackson.

We have a great deal in the future of our community. We are proud that we are a city that is growing and that is a living in our home town and, of course, we are concerned about the future of our community. We are concerned about the future of our community and we are concerned about the future of our community.

We want to put our money where our mouth is. We want to put our money where our mouth is. We want to put our money where our mouth is. We want to put our money where our mouth is. We want to put our money where our mouth is.

Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community.

ral welfare of our community and in the finest spirit, if the city council is interested in a real community effort to get the job done, we again repeat that we offer our services to the city without compensation to assist in a 'pay as you go' street program.

J. NORTON HAAS, JR.
MICHAEL D. HAAS
NICHOLAS M. HAAS

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

After having attended the bid bond opening at City Hall on June 10, 1968 and seeing the bids opened and read aloud, it makes me feel personally proud to see the bids placed into our city by the low - low prices of 4.63 percent. Having followed the price of bonds, let me say that along the coast, this is better than a one per cent savings to us.

From Jackson

The Mississippi House of Representatives completed its legislative session on a historic day of legislation to allow women to serve on juries in each county. For many years, although laws have been passed to allow women to serve on juries, the reality of this bill has been the work of many years. The Governor will probably sign the measure and the bill will be in effect by the end of the year. The bill will allow women to serve on juries in each county. The bill will allow women to serve on juries in each county.

Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community.

Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community. Let's talk about the future of our community.

A Conservative View

by James J. Kilpatrick

WASHINGTON - Resurrection City: This is the latter-day collection of plywood A-frames knocked together by the Poor People's Campaign as the stage-set for their spring assault on Washington. To those persons who are devoutly committed to this venture, doubtless this latter-day village symbolizes the misery they hope to see relieved.

Many such dedicated men and women exist. Their labors, and their sincerity, have been abundantly described. Yet it may be that too much has been said of the sincerity, and too little of the sham. A vast and artificial display is sham.

What about these husky, well-fed marchers? When the campaign began, back in mid-May, a number of authentically poor persons were on hand—old men, toothless, inarticulate, whose bewildered eyes mirrored the bewilderment of their lives. Most of them appear to have departed now. The main team, having served its television purposes, seems to have been abandoned for the time.

One now finds in Resurrection City a very different breed of poor. Many of them are chronic welfare types—tough, insolent, sullen, uncommunicative. The blacks have come primarily from the cities—New York, Detroit, Chicago. They have brought to Washington little more than their warm bodies and a sense of undignified and nebulous resentment. The attitude is essentially negative. Down with the system! Down with injustice! But what, specifically, do they want? Down with the system! Down with injustice!

Sincerely,
GERRY LANE

The whites, for the most part, are grumpy, stupid, bigoted, and bawled and boarded. Besides the militant blacks, they are both literally and figuratively pale. They are healthy enough, if they are in that poor, to obtain work that would lift them out of poverty. However, there are no jobs available in Washington, hence, the protest to get all those blacks of poverty to work. This is

For the truth is that many of the demonstrators have made poverty their business. They have become the professional poor. They loaf indifferently around their shanty-town, so many extras sent from Central Casting, awaiting a call from the producer-director to conduct another march. On stage, and the fervor is trumped up, and away they go.

The artificiality does not mean that the fervor is not genuine. It is. This past Tuesday afternoon, the marchers cornered Attorney General Ramsey Clark and subjected him to a half hour of shrill and arrogant abuse. Perhaps Clark did well to hold his temper in the face of this taunting, but it would have been refreshing, all the same, for Clark simply to have walked out on his tormentors. They had not come for rational discussion of grievances; they had come for a game of bear-baiting. Clark had the part of the bear.

How much longer, we are beginning to wonder, will the government tolerate these truculent invaders? By what right do they disrupt the orderly processes of society? The right of dissent, it is said, the right to petition for redress of grievances. These are surely precious rights. Yet they are not absolute rights. A hard line must distinguish legitimate speech from disorderly conduct. The right of dissent does not embrace a right indefinitely to impose upon the peace and dignity of this capital.

The longer these leaders hang around, the more they will alienate those political forces that presumably they hope to win to their cause. Mighty law congressmen have been to Resurrection City lately. The local press has been disinterested. Whatever measure that may be taken by Congress toward relief of poverty will be taken in spite of the importunities of this group, and not because of their importunities.

CONCERN IN CHICAGO
The assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has intensified concern among responsible persons for protecting the presidential campaign.

Both the Democrats and Republicans have agreed that black militants will attempt to disrupt the campaign. The Democrats are far more concerned because a number of millions in the Chicago area.

They previously had considered moving their campaign from Chicago to Miami Beach—which is closer to the coast. But they have given up the idea of moving to Miami Beach. They have given up the idea of moving to Miami Beach. They have given up the idea of moving to Miami Beach.

TV cited as crime source

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON - The tragedy in Los Angeles has shocked the American people to shocked discussion of crime on television.

One possible answer can be found in the fact that the picture tube of our TV sets-for TV, more than any other, brought daily scenes of crime into our homes, but many real, from riots in our cities to the assassination of a president.

Since 1950, our population has increased 10 per cent and in the same period, the nation's crime rate has grown by 68 per cent. It may be highly significant that the growth of crime has paralleled the growth of violence on TV than it has on the radio.

It also may be significant that the rate of crime is high among the youth of the nation who have been reared on TV, has supplanted parents, schools and churches as the primary influence on the minds of the younger generation.

How valid this concern over the impact of television may be can be found in some of the business figures of the year on radio and television. They do this because they persuade the American public to go out and buy their products in great quantity. And since American businessmen make a profit, they would not pour these billions into TV advertising if it did not produce results.

It is short commercial announcements on television that guide the public to buy billions of dollars worth of products and cigarettes and automobiles, what must be the effect of hours of dramatized and glamorized crime programs on the impressionable minds of youth?

When a child sees muggings and robbery every day on television, when he sees men shot and killed in half a dozen places and acceptable as glamour hair rinses.

In the looting and violence of the past several years, it has been testified time and again that television's glamorized pillaging and burning in one city inspired youthful mobs in others to go out and do likewise.

If the president's new commission to study the violence that has come suddenly to our nation wants to know how to start, crime on television should be high on its list.

Presidential nominees

The death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy makes it almost certain that the nominees for the presidency this year will be President Humphrey for the Democrats and Richard Nixon for the Republicans.

Most of the Kennedy support probably will now go to Eugene McCarthy, but not all of it. Humphrey will pick up the votes that Kennedy had, but the silencing of the most vocal of the young America may give him the nomination on the party ticket. We also have believed all along that Richard Nixon would win the GOP nomination, because Nelson Rockefeller's endorsement in making his active candidacy known.

Both parties will face the charge that their respective nominees will be boss-dictated. Nixon already has been charged about Humphrey, though Nixon has welcomed endorsement from the support of political bosses just as much as Humphrey possibly more so.

Though Humphrey has a long and strong record of being a liberal, his biggest difficulty will be to attract the liberal voters so devoted to Sen. Kennedy and to Sen. McCarthy. Many of them do not remember that 20 years ago Humphrey, then a senator, took such a strong stand for civil rights in the Democratic Convention of 1948 that the Southern wing of the party walked out and started a third party, which nominated Strom Thurmond for president.

While Robert Kennedy was still in school and Eugene McCarthy was still a teacher and many of their backers were hardly a quarter of our people old enough to vote are today, they are a powerful minority, if they speak out with understanding with Sen. McCarthy that will give him the America behind him. Because of the Constitutional provisions discouraging the election of the president and vice president from the same state, chances are that Humphrey will win the McCarthy the vice presidency; in fact, McCarthy might win the vice presidency.

Such possibilities will not be put forward publicly, but at this time they could have international implications. It would be harmful to the United States if McCarthy were to win the vice presidency. If North Vietnamese negotiators were to be dealing with Sen. McCarthy, they would be dealing with a man who would make any gestures toward peace in Vietnam. Another possibility being discussed in political circles is that Humphrey might try to persuade Sen. Edward Brooke to be the vice presidential nominee.

This offer would not be made immediately because of the tragic circumstances. But in the hard realities of the campaign it must be counted as a possibility.

Summer force starts operations

Seventy-four university and college students and 20 high school seniors from throughout the state began their summer jobs this week at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility. They are summer employees of the General Electric Co., prime contractor to NASA for operation and maintenance of the proving ground for space vehicles.

Loe A. Clark, personnel specialist at GE, said that nearly 800 applications were received for the positions available. The full-time, specialized work of the summer employees, ranging from maintenance to data acquisition, is to help the regular employees of GE.

Clark said, The program, in its fourth year at MTF, is an orientation session on Monday, Henry F. Auditor, deputy manager of the Mississippi Test Facility, welcomed the employees on behalf of Jackson M. Balch, NASA site manager. He stressed recognition of an their full participation in continuing the installation's record of safety, quality, reliability and economical operation.

Orrin H. Pilleay, consulting engineer and acting general manager of GE-MTSD, emphasized the opportunities available to the summer employees to learn how industry and government work together, to "see the big picture" and to get a better feel for a career while making a contribution themselves.

Little Theater rehearses for 3rd production

The third production of the current season of Bay-Warland Little Theater will be "The Pleasure of His Company", a comedy written by Samuel Beckett and directed by 1967 award-winning director Burt Barrick. Scheduled for presentation early in July, the play involves a wedding in San Francisco, and collected for the cast are Jewel Timmons as the bride-to-be, Torrey Malone as her fiancé, Emily de Montluzin as the bride's mother, Cal Smith as her father, Ed Michaelson as her stepfather, and Curtis Mathews as a her grandfather. Witty and amusing, the dialogue will provide a complete change of pace for theater audiences who attended the last production, Cat On A Hot Tin Roof.

First presented in New York City in 1968 and later made into a motion picture, The Pleasure of His Company was written with the cooperation of Cora Otis Skinner and starred Miss Skinner as the mother of the bride.

Clark's unit wins citation

Sgt. Kenneth M. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burel Clark of Vanceboro, N. C., is a member of a unit that has earned the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

His unit was cited for compiling outstanding records in both combat readiness and training in severe weather to meet the urgent requirements for direct support of the Southeast Asian effort. The 21st was also cited for its participation in insuring the defense of Alaska and the North American continent.

Steve Henry... Hancock acreage involved in land sale

Two tracts of land in Hancock County near Anner sold at $141 per acre for 90 acres and $91 per acre for 480 acres, both tracts being unimproved, last week in an auction at Woodville in Wilkinston County.

The lands were part of a 970.25 acre sale of lieu lands conducted by Wilkinston County of land owned, in Hancock and Pearl River Counties. Bids totaled about $98,000 and ranged from $80 to a top of $141 per acre.

Alonso H. Sturgeon said in Pearl River most people who were living on the lands appear to have been successful bidders. In Hancock none of the land was occupied and seems to only have been useful for growing stumpage.

"We maybe have sold $98 worth of stumpage off the Hancock lands in the past 10 years, but we have never managed to sell any timber from them," he said.

Dot's, Ladner's victors of softball upset games

Upsets were the order of the day last Friday in Bay Softball League play when, in the first game, Dot's Pool Hall downed Chateau Sou, 14-10, and, in the second game, Ladner's Friendly Inn of Anslay upended the mighty Trapani squad to the tune of 11-5.
In the Dot's vs. Chateau Sou game, the pool players pocketed four runs in the first frame, eight in the second, went scoreless for next three then put another two into the corner. Chateau, with strong batting, managed one run in the first inning, three in the fifth, one in the sixth and five in the last. The comeback was forceful but not enough.
L.J. Cuevas was on the mound for Dot's and Jim Mayfield was charged with the loss. In the second outing Ladner's scored in the first, fifth, sixth, and seventh to the count 1, 5, 3, and 2 runs respectively, while holding Trapani scoreless until the sixth when Beach men scored two. They added these up with a trio in the final frame and Ladner's had enough to cut things about then. Randy Ladner, who batted with honors and Billy Murphy was given the black.

Bank boys battle, tie for top league slot

The Battle of the Banks went through another session of fighting on Monday when Merchants Bank averaged their loss of the previous week and dumped Gulf National Bank, 2-1, to tie for first place honors in Dixie Youth Baseball League play.
Randy Crankey was the Merchants' powerhouse hitting two for three trips, bringing in one run on a double and scoring himself on a fielding error.
Others taking part in the Merchants' victory, all with one hit for three outings to the plate, were Dale Ladner, Keith Necaise and Norman Smith.
Winning pitcher was Dale Ladner and losing pitcher, Willie Carter. Carter also scored the only run for his money house. Hitting a double in the sixth inning he advanced to third base on a wild pitch then scored on a sacrifice fly by Joey Smith.
The game ended when Vernon Powell was thrown out by Keith Necaise, catcher for Merchants, on a zoom throw to Charlie Caldwell, third baseman, who put the tag on Powell.
In the only other Dixie game played Monday the American Legion Independents downed Riemann's, 14-3. Winning pitcher was Dave Richardson and losing hurler was Buckley Caspell who gave up seven bases on balls in the third inning.
L. A. 2-1 Friday Jaycees dropped a big one to Riemann's, 16-6, with the winners scoring off nine hits and losers off three.
Winning pitcher was Bucky Caspell, assisted by batter Wally Burns, 2 for 3 and Billy Ray Osborn, 2 for 4. Blaine Coward was charged with the loss. Dale Ladner was credited with the win when his team, Merchants Bank, narrowly beat the American Legion Independents, 2-1. Losing pitcher was Keith Burch.

Keep It Beautiful

If America hired people for the job, it would take the largest staff of army to keep our country free of litter. But there's no need to hire anyone. It's a job we can do for ourselves. All of us. Every family that spreads a picnic lunch. Every boatman who cruises the lakes and waterways. Every motorist who uses our roads and highways.

It is the pleasure of the U. S. Brewers Association each year to give its fullest support to the Keep America Beautiful Campaign. Remember. Every Litter Bit Hurts. This is our land. Let's treat it right.

Even though Jenny Trapani is wearing a coat on her left arm, she isn't letting it slow her down as far as enjoying her guests. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Leo of Marquette, Ill. She, husband Frank, daughter Janet and son-in-law Harold Hill and Yvette Anderson accompanied the Lees to the Broadview Beach Hotel to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary May 30. Incidentally, Jenny fractured her hand while helping Janet and Harold get their new home ready for occupancy.

Carmel and Wally Joannet had planned to limit the menu of Carmel's Sea Shell pretty much to seafood in the beginning, but she's been whipping such gourmet goodies as stuffed artichokes and gumbo for her rapidly growing list of customers.

In Texas

Helen (Mrs. Charles H.) White has just returned from a trip to Houston, Tex., where she attended the annual Luncheon of the Catholic Business Women's organization, of which she was a member before her retirement. While in Texas she visited Astroworld in Houston and HemisFair 1968 in San Antonio. She also journeyed to Laredo and crossed the border where purchases are still made in quarts instead of fifths. She says the trip was wonderful, the weather delightful, but she's happy to be back home in Waveland.

Isobel and Mel Villere and all of the family, except Joan and Al Bernard, are vacationing on a camping trip in the mountains of Tennessee. Joan and Al remained at home as their third child is due just about any moment now.

A wedding of interest last Saturday was that of Diane Creed to Alfred Selle. Dianne chose a frock of pale yellow in a sheer fabric and wore an orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Geoffrey, Jr., were best man and matron of honor at the ceremony performed by Justice of the Peace Forest Necaise. They left for a Florida honeymoon after the ceremony.

Bid adieu

Speaking of fetes, about 70 friends and co-workers bade Loretta (Lolly) and Jack Sharkey a reluctant farewell at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club on Tuesday, May 28. Waldo Dearing

Carolyn Thompson weds Mr. Abaunza

The wedding of Miss Carolyn Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Thompson, Jr., of Waveland, New Orleans, and Donald R. Abaunza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Abaunza of New Orleans, was celebrated at a nuptial mass at 6 p.m. Saturday at Most Holy Name of Jesus Church in New Orleans.

Rev. Bernard A. Turner performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her

Miss Rowley will be bride on June 28

June 28 will be the date of the wedding of Miss Ann Marie Rowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Miller Rowley of New Orleans and Waveland, and James Robert Commagere, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Commagere. The 6:30 p.m. ceremony will be at the Church of the Most Holy Name of Jesus, New Orleans, followed by a reception at the Rowley home on State Street.

The bride-elect studied at Ecole Classique and Louisiana State University where she was a member of Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She made her debut during the 1965-66 season and was queen of the Nereus Ball and a maid in the balls of Acheans, Athenians and Krewe of Mystery.

The groom-elect attended Alice Fortier School and is a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Sigma Pi honorary.

Gripe corner

We could probably find lots of things about which to complain, but the fact that all but a couple of spots on Betsy battered Beach Blvd. are filled and blacktopped is such good news that we haven't the heart to fuss about anything. Guess we're just impatient, after all it hasn't been quite three years since it was all but destroyed by the hurricane!

Fish notes

Don't know who else went out Saturday, but the 'young pro' Ellis Cuevas returned with an ice chest full of beautiful speckled trout.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS ALONG THE WAY - Brilliant oleander blossoms their petals so perfect that they appear artificial against the dark green of the leaves; horseback riders leaving unmistakable signs that they had been trotting along the downtown sidewalks; the scruffy grey Main Street cat deviating from its usual course and frolicking stealthily across Beach Blvd. and the soothing sound of a 1 r conditioner purring steadily as the little motors turn over and over 24 hours a day.

Bernard Firpo note 25 years

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Firpo observed their 25th wedding anniversary June 9 with a family dinner.

Mrs. Firpo, the former Mary Boniga, and Mr. Firpo, were married June 9, 1943, in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church with the late Bishop Leo Fahey officiating.

Mr. Firpo presented his wife with a set of diamond rings for the occasion.

Keith Favre celebrates

Keith Blaise Favre celebrated his sixth birthday on Sunday with a party at his home on St. Charles Street. Co-hostesses at the event were his mother, Mrs. Lydia Monti Favre, and Miss Noel Phillips.

Others in attendance included Gary Sotak, Rodney Carr, Steve and Paul Treutal, Keith's brother, Donald, and his two sisters, Laurin and Adele.

Mrs. Michaelson, who holds a bachelor of science degree from Queens University and is working towards a masters degree in library science from Columbia University, began new duties on June 1.

Library group 8 of 40 slate listed elects two from Bay

A nominating committee will present a new slate of officers for the coming year when the 40th annual meeting of the library group will be held at 4 p.m. next Wednesday, in home of Mrs. B.L. Ramsey on North Beach. Named for officers are Mrs. Joseph E. Vignerie, Jr., chairman; Mrs. William Lamb, vice chairman; Mrs. Claiborne Ladret, secretary; and Mrs. O.J. Ramsey, treasurer. Mrs. Ramsey is outgoing chairman. All friends of the library are invited to attend.

Woodmenladies have luncheon

Ladies of Woodmen of the World met last Wednesday in the home of the president, Mrs. Charles Scianna, for their annual luncheon. Members honored Mrs. Scianna later with a surprise stork cover. Games were played and prizes won by Mmes. Havard, Leigh, Leontine Ziegler and Joseph Noto.

SALESMAN JOE CRAWFORD IS SHOWN JUST AFTER CONGRATULATING KENNETH ROGERS ON THE PURCHASE OF NEW CHEVROLET.

I was told by several friends who had bought their cars from Joe Crawford at Gerry Lane Chevrolet to be sure and talk to him before buying my new car. They gave me good advice. Joe found just the deal on the price of my Chevrolet, which suited me and capably handled all arrangements for financing and insurance.
